

Set Your Walk-in Free!

Reliable Cooling Anywhere in the World. The Basic Freeaire® System is a refrigeration system for walk-in coolers, freezers and cold storage warehouses in any climate. Its microprocessor-based Cooler Controller™ optimizes the operation of standard refrigeration equipment.

Save Energy. All year long a Freeaire system saves large amounts of electrical energy by running all the refrigeration equipment, condensing fans, compressors, evaporator fans and door heaters for a cooled space only as much as it has to. Using outside air cuts energy use even more drastically.

Save Money. Be like this happy customer with his handful of cash and his electric bill. Less energy used means smaller bills, every month, year after year. Fewer service calls for maintenance and less frequent equipment replacement save even more money. Whether you're using outside air or not, your payback period will often be less than 2 years.

Save Your Equipment. With your condensing unit and evaporators running so little, and possibly even taking the winter off, there is much less wear and tear, so your equipment should last longer.

Save the Earth. The Freeaire reduces electrical generation from burning fossil fuels, which limits the introduction of greenhouse gas into the atmosphere, the main cause of global warming.

"Free Cooling" In colder climates, the Freeaire taps into the greatest source of refrigeration ever created: winter. The Freeaire can use cold outside air to cool the space, simply using what Nature has so kindly made available, to give the entire compressor system a winter vacation.

Improve Refrigeration. A dedicated microprocessor accurately and reliably controls the refrigeration of your walk-in. On-demand defrosting A the evaporators and compressor operating at peak efficiency.

Utility Approved. It may qualify for your utility's rebate program.
